I. Introduction and Summary

The mission of the Behavioral Health Services Commission is: partnering to promote prevention, treatment, and recovery to ensure Kansans with behavioral health needs live safe, healthy, successful and self-determined lives in their communities. The commission's vision is that Kansas communities support prevention and recovery throughout the lifespan.

In 2015, KDADS recognized an opportunity to expand prevention efforts to be more inclusive of mental health promotion, suicide prevention, and problem gambling education and awareness. Multiple factors in the state and nation influenced this change, with two primary goals:

1. Integrate behavioral health prevention efforts
2. Allocate greater resources to local level, community-driven prevention efforts

This resulted in the formation and development of the Kansas Prevention Collaborative, with a focus on connecting communities through behavioral health promotion, education, awareness, and advocacy across the continuum of care. With these changes in mind, the priority of the SABG and the Implementation Cohort 1 has a primary objective to help plan, implement, and evaluate activities that prevent and treat substance abuse. Integration of other identified priority behavioral health areas is encouraged when possible to supplement substance abuse prevention.

This initiative will utilize the five steps of the SAMHSA Strategic Prevention Framework. The Strategic Prevention Framework (SPF) is a community-based approach to substance abuse prevention that cuts across existing programs and systems. SPF executes a data-driven, five-step process known to promote youth development, reduce risk-taking behaviors, build assets and resilience, and prevent problem behaviors across the life span. The SPF was initiated by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration's (SAMHSA) Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP). The five steps of the SPF are designed to help states and communities build prevention competencies and infrastructure necessary to implement and sustain effective prevention policies, practices, and programs. An outline of the five step process of the Strategic Prevention Framework follows.

Step 1: ASSESSMENT--Profile population needs, resources, and readiness to address needs and gaps. Assessment involves the collection of data to define problems within a geographic area. Assessment also involves mobilizing key stakeholders to collect the needed data and foster the SPF process. Part of this mobilization, is the creation of an assessment workgroup. A coalition's assessment workgroup may spearhead the data collection process and be responsible for defining the problems and the underlying factors that will be addressed in Step 4 of the full SPF process: Implementation. Assessing resources includes assessing cultural competence, identifying service gaps, and identifying the existing prevention infrastructure in the State and/or community.

Step 1 also involves an assessment of readiness and leadership to implement policies, programs, and practices.

Step 2: CAPACITY BUILDING--Mobilize and/or build capacity to address needs.

Building capacity involves the mobilization of resources within a community. A key aspect of capacity building is convening key stakeholders, coalitions, and service providers to plan and implement sustainable prevention efforts in Steps 3-4 of the SPF. The mobilization of resources includes both financial and organizational resources as well as the creation of partnerships. Readiness, cultural competence, and leadership capacity are addressed and strengthened through education and training. Additionally, capacity building should include a focus on sustainability as well as evaluation capacity.

Step 3: STRATEGIC PLANNING--Develop a comprehensive strategic plan.

Planning involves the development of a strategic plan that includes policies, programs, and practices that create a logical, data-driven plan to address the problems identified in Step 1 of the SPF. The planning process produces strategic goals, objectives, and performance targets as well as logic models and preliminary action plans. In addition to the strategic goals, objectives, and performance targets, Step 3 also involves the identification and selection of evidence-based strategies.

Step 4: IMPLEMENTATION--Implement evidence-based prevention programs, policies, and practices. Implementation involves taking action guided by the strategic plan created in Step 3 of the SPF. If action planning, or the selection of specific policies, programs, and practices, was not completed in full during the planning process in Step 3, it should occur in Step 4. Step 4 also includes the creation of an evaluation plan, the collection of process measure data, and the ongoing monitoring of implementation fidelity.

Step 5: EVALUATION--Monitor, evaluate, sustain, and improve or replace those that fail.

Evaluation involves measuring the impact of the SPF and the implemented programs, policies, and practices. An important part of the ongoing process is identifying areas for improvement and course correction. Step 5 also emphasizes sustainability since it involves measuring the impact of the implemented policies, programs, and practices. Evaluation also includes reviewing the effectiveness, efficiency, and fidelity of implementation in relation to the strategic plan, action plans, and desired outcome measures.

The Department for Aging and Disability Services (KDADS) views KPCCI community grant applicants and grantees as learning partners; while specific guidance, consultation, and deliverables have been identified by federal and state partners, much will be learned as community leaders engage in building sustainable capacity within targeted populations to infuse a prevention mindset into multiple disciplines which have a direct impact on attitudes, beliefs, and actions related to substance abuse prevention. The KDADS Project Team and Kansas Prevention Collaborative are committed to work collaboratively with community coalitions to provide clarity through communications and support services, as needed. As part of its commitment to lead and foster learning, KDADS will strive to create an environment in which the expertise of community stakeholders is honored and supported through competent supports in both face-to-face and virtual settings. In this way, the Kansas Prevention Collaborative and community coalitions can contribute to existing statewide efforts to reduce substance abuse.

Successful grantees will be required to engage a multidisciplinary partnership committed to collaboratively work through each of the five steps of the SPF process identified community. To ensure diverse representation within SPF community coalitions, KDADS has elected to align the SPF award process with the 12 key community sectors required through the national Drug-Free Communities Support Program. This approach ensures the involvement of representatives from key community organizations and institutions who provide varying perspectives and interests in substance abuse prevention and related consequences. Alignment with federal grant program requirements is hoped to position Kansas communities for additional resources to support and sustain local efforts. The 12 sector representatives required as member participants in each community coalition funded through the KPCCI are provided in Figure 1. Eligible applicants will have successfully completed the planning phase and will continue to monitor all steps of SPF process.
